Navy Closes 'Caine Mutiny' Case

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Navy closed what appeared to be the final door Friday on the controversial case of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter.

Arnheiter was summarily relieved of command of a radar picket ship off the coast of Vietnam in 1966 after a series of complaints from his officers and crew.

Following later inquiries by naval officers, his superiors decided that he had "revealed a gross lack of judgment and an inability to command and lead people." He was barred from further command assignments.

The case has invited comparison with Herman Wouk's novel "The Caine Mutiny," in which the resentment of the officers and men aboard the fictional ship Caine exploded in mutiny.

There was no mutiny aboard Arnheiter's ship, but there was considerable resentment that, in the end, led to his loss of command.

In a one-paragraph statement issued late Friday afternoon, Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius indicated that the case had been reviewed at the highest levels of the Navy Department and that no further inquiry appeared necessary. Arnheiter had pleaded for a full-dress court of inquiry to review the case.

The statement by Ignatius said:

"The Secretary of Navy decided after very careful personal consideration that further inquiry into the case of Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter is not warranted. He has concluded that on the basis of the entire record, there is no valid reason for altering the decision that Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter's further assignment to command would be inappropriate. This decision has been imparted to Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter."

Arnheiter is now stationed at San Francisco in a plans and operations post with Headquarters Western Sea Frontier. The ruling will not cost him his rank, although it will bar him from any further command posts at sea and may damage his chances for promotion. He has been passed over for promotion to commander twice since being relieved of command.

Arnheiter's case had become a cause celebre in

Q. Some time ago I bought a sponge mop made by the blind from a door-to-door salesman. It's a rather efficient mop with a hinged mechanism on the handle which closes on the sponge to squeeze out the excess water. I need a new sponge, but can't locate the organization that makes them. Could ACTION LINE help? Mrs. A. Y. O., Long Beach.

A. Set your sights on a clean kitchen floor. The mops are distributed by Blind Made Products, 4101 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles 29. You may order a new mop or just the sponge refill by writing to them or phoning them at 662-8115.

Hey, You!

Q. We have a young friend in the Marines in Vietnam who has a first name that, by old-country Mexican standards, is a dilly. It has been a trial to him all his life, and now he would like to have it legally changed before he is discharged. He would like his discharge papers to show a name he can live with and proudly share with a girl some day. He doesn't even want to die bearing that name. Could ACTION LINE tell us how to go about starting such proceedings? V. M. L., Long Beach.

A. A spokesman for the Municipal Court in Long Beach says you will need the assistance of an attorney to draw up the necessary papers which are filed in the form of a civil complaint. But it can be accomplished while the man is overseas. The fee for filing is $30.50. For six weeks after the complaint has been filed, it must be published at least once a week in the legal notices of a newspaper. If the Marine is under 21, the complaint must be signed by a parent. If you do not have an attorney, you may contact the Lawyer's Reference Service of Long Beach at 2240 Atlantic Ave. for advice.

Understocked

Q. When McDonnell and Douglas Aircraft companies merged, my father and I received a certificate for stock shares in the new corporation, replacing our old one. However, there was an error in the spelling of our name on the new certificate so we returned it to St. Louis Union Trust Co., issuers of the certificate, to be corrected. We did this in June and have not received another certificate or any word from the company even though we have written three times. Can you help? H. R. K., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE contacted Eugene Bradford, manager of stock transfers for the company in St. Louis, Mo. He found one of your letters which had been misfiled. He has searched the registered mail records for June, but as yet has not found your certificate. He promised to correspond with you and get the matter straightened out.

Bearly Helpful

Q. Recently I saw and fell in love with a Los Angeles Zoo poster. It has a darling bear in a sitting position, and is just the sort of thing I've been looking for for a wall decoration. Could ACTION LINE help me get one of these posters? C. D., Lakewood.

A. Sorry, but you'll have to bear up without your poster. They are the property of the Southern California Rapid Transit District and are used at bus stops to indicate bus lines to the zoo. A spokesman for the RTD told ACTION LINE the posters are not available to the public. However, the public relations department of the zoo is sending you a small replica of the poster bear.

This is the Way

Q. I have recently moved to this area from Detroit, and am confused about the organization the United Crusade. In Detroit we had the United Fund which used to be the Community Chest. I would like to know what the relationship is between the United Fund, the United Crusade, the United Way and the Community Chest. What is the cost to Long Beach to run these programs, and where do my contributions go? A. R., Wilmington.

A. According to John Fenner, public information director for the United Way in Long Beach, the United Fund is a name used in the East for similar organizations. In 1963 all Los Angeles communities except Santa Monica and San Marino dropped the Community Chest and joined under one organization, Los Angeles United Way. United Way agencies are in business all year 'round. In September, October and November they join with the American Red Cross for the United Crusade, their once-a-year fundraising drive. Last year, says Fenner, $91.80 out of every $100 went directly to the United Way agencies. Some of the agencies receiving United Way funds are the Armed Services YMCA, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Boys Clubs, Long Beach Children's Clinic, Children's Home Society and the Long Beach Day Nursery. Each year agencies requesting funds must appear before a budget committee made up of local citizens, and submit their needs for the coming year.

Dollar In No Danger

Gold-Buying Spree Not Seen as Threat in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials and U.S. Monetary experts agreed Friday that the gold-buying spree in London and Paris was unlikely to endanger the dollar.

These sources based their confidence on the massive gold reserves — $29 billion — held by the United States and six other active members of the so-called international gold pool and their "perfect" cooperation to protect the gold-backed dollar.

The pool was established in 1961 to stabilize the price of gold. Its current

WASHINGTON (AP)—Firm confidence in the ability of the dollar to ride out the storm of European gold speculation was declared Friday by the managing director of the 107-nation International Monetary Fund. Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, in a Voice of America interview described as a temporary flurry the rush to exchange dollars for gold, in the wake of devaluation of the British pound.

membership, also including Britain, Belgium, Holland, Italy, West Germany and Switzerland, has dipped into its reserves to hold the price at $35 an ounce in the current crisis.

THAT IS the price at which the United States is pledged to buy or sell gold. President Johnson reaffirmed in Texas Friday the U.S. determination to maintain that price, and the White House said other central banks in Europe were agreed, except for France.

The administration otherwise maintained official silence on the heavy gold buying in European bullion markets. Privately, officials said they regarded the buying wave as a nuisance because of the publicity and resulting uneasiness it has created.

The officials said the great demand for gold seems to come mostly from private investors. They said there was no evidence to support suggestions in London.

BARTENDER FINDS TIME FOR PRAYER

Bartender John A. Nullio, 41, who works at The Playmate Bar, 7927 Imperial Highway, Downey, was alone in the bar Friday when two men robbed him of $380 and ordered him to wait in the restroom long enough to permit their escape.

When police Sgt. Pete Stone asked Nullio how long he remained in the restroom he replied, "Just long enough to say the 'Lord's Prayer.'"

Turks Ready to Invade Cyprus as U.N. Meets

TURKISH, CYPRUS ENVOYS DUEL AT UNITED NATIONS DEBATE ON WAR CRISIS
Ambassador Orhan Eralp (left), of Turkey, and Cypriot Zenon Rossides face Security Council

War May Erupt This Weekend

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Cyprus told an emergency session of the Security Council Friday night that Turkey planned to invade the island nation this weekend in a move threatening to plunge the eastern Mediterranean into open war.

The Cypriots agreed to an appeal by Secretary General Thant for the gradual withdrawal of all foreign troops from the island, where Greece and Turkey maintain sizeable garrisons.

Thant urged the withdrawal after warning that Greece and Turkey were "at the brink of war" over Cyprus.

The council adjourned late Friday night for a 30-minute break so that delegates from the 15 member nations could confer privately on a course of action.

But two hours later, delegates were still wrangling over the wording of a consensus agreement to be announced by council President Mamadou Boubacar Kante of Mali in support of Thant's peace appeal.

Cypriot Ambassador Zenon Rossides asserted that, "it is the knowledge of all governments that this weekend has been fixed for the unlawful invasion... by our big and powerful neighbor, Turkey, with whom we wish to live in peace."

ROSSIDES CALLED the emergency session to ask the council for a resolution to "protect the territory, sovereignty and territorial integrity of Cyprus from this grave threat from Turkey."

Turkish Ambassador Orhan Eralp accused Rossides of summoning the council for the purpose of "crying

McCarthy Bid Seen Thursday

From Our National Bureau
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota will announce Thursday that he will challenge President Johnson in key primaries for the Democratic nomination next year — and he will probably have the help of the Kennedy family in doing so.

The 51-year-old liberal Democrat will end weeks of speculation by calling a Washington news conference Thursday, at which he will disclose plans to enter the nation's first presidential primary March 12 in New Hampshire. He also plans to enter primaries in Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Oregon and California.

McCarthy can be expected to receive qualified support from Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., who hinted last week that he might alter his earlier promise to support the Johnson-Humphrey ticket next year.

In addition, it is expected that McCarthy will not be opposed in the Massachusetts primary by Sen. Edward Kennedy, who could run as a favorite son of that state.

McCarthy plans to base his campaign on a broad, return-to-idealism platform in the mold of Adlai Stevenson, rather than just an attack on the Johnson Vietnam policy.

However, the Vietnam war will be his main theme. He probably will make a foreign tour after his announcement, meeting with world leaders in Western Europe, Moscow, Hanoi and Saigon.

RADIOS PROVIDED Crime Area Strike of Phonemen Ends

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. agreed Friday to provide installers and repairmen assigned to crime-ridden south-central Los Angeles with walkie-talkie radios, ending two days of wildcat strikes against the company.

The dispute between the company and 5,000 members of the Communication Workers of America began Thursday, when 2,000 employees walked off their jobs. An additional 3,000 left Friday when the company rejected demands.

CWA negotiators meeting with Pacific officials said late Friday the company had agreed to the use of walkie-talkie radios for all single repairman assignments in the problem area.

"If there is no radio in the truck," a CWA steward said, "a foreman will ride with the installer or repairman."

"If there is no radio and no foreman, the employee is not required to go."

Telephone company offices in Huntington Park, Compton, Paramount, San Pedro and West Los Angeles were among those picketed Friday by angry workers. CWA officials at first said if the company refused to discuss the issue further, as many as 20,000 employees might be called out in sympathy.

Although no installations or repair were completed Thursday or Friday, some employees will be back to work today.

The telephone walkouts mirrored a similar complaint by drivers of Southern California Rapid Transit District who have threatened to walk out Monday unless the RTD provides guards on all buses with routes through the troubled area.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is scheduled to decide on the boycott by late Sunday.

Mark Hatfield to Talk in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., will speak at a meeting of the Los Angeles Collegiate Young Republicans at Los Angeles City College Tuesday at 1 p.m., it was announced Friday.

$60,000 Bet Ring Smashed

By VINT MADER

At least 22 persons — seven of them in the Long Beach and Harbor area — were arrested Friday night in raids on a football-card betting ring.

Los Angeles Police Department vice officers arrested 11 suspects each, and more raids were under way in Orange County.

Lt. Thomas Sena of the Los Angeles vice squad said the ring was a weekly operation distributing about 20,000 betting cards at minimum bets of $1 each.

OFFICERS said the operation probably grossed about $60,000 weekly at an estimated average bet of $3. They said 15 to 20 percent was paid out to winners.

Viet Cong Open New Offensive

Combined News Services

SAIGON — Viet Cong troops wielding flame throwers attacked a South Vietnamese army post 70 miles north of Saigon today in the same area where the Communists staged a diversionary assault Oct. 27 before the big battle at Loc Ninh. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the pre-dawn attack was repulsed with 100 of the Viet Cong killed and 39 weapons captured. South Vietnamese casualties were light. The fighting near the Cambodian border erupted as fresh clashes were reported Friday in three areas of South Vietnam's central highlands 25 to 50 miles south of Dak To, where a bloody three-week battle ended Thanksgiving Day.

In the largest of Friday's three clashes, a Viet Cong ambush heavily damaged a U.S. truck convoy near Pleiku City and the Americans killed 38 of the attackers. Spokesmen said the attack today 4 miles south of Phuoc Binh could be a prelude to another attempt by the Communists to seize Loc Ninh, a rubber plantation town near Cambodia and 30 miles west of Phuoc Binh. The Viet Cong attacked battle-tested South Vietnamese troops. The army post is manned by troops of the same South Vietnamese battalion that repulsed the Oct. 27 attack and killed 143 of the Viet Cong. The unit was the 3rd Battalion, 9th Regiment of the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division. U.S. officers expressed belief that the enemy high command aimed at pressing a dry-season offensive in jungles north of Saigon despite bloody setbacks at Loc Ninh and at Dak To, where the key Hill 875 fell to Americans Thursday. Bonn Seeks U.S. Jets BONN — The West German air force has decided to try to acquire 200 to 220 phantom jets from the U.S., it was reported here Friday. The cost of the jets, which are made by the McDonnell Aircraft Co., would total about $1 billion.

6 Million Aussies Vote

SYDNEY, Australia — Prime Minister Harold Holt may discover today whether the nation still back him on Vietnam or favors withdrawal from the war. National elections to replace half of the 60-member federal senate were expected to bring six million to the polls.

Holt has emphasized he would consider any lessening in coalition's absolute rule a slap Australians fighting in Vietnam.

Reds Call Summit Meeting

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union Friday announced the start of a new move to kick Red China out of the world Communist movement. Tass said 18 Communist parties from around the world have agreed to a "consultative meeting" in Budapest next February to discuss a "summit" meeting that would take up the China question.

Vietnam Inspection Junket

WASHINGTON — Three American women accompanied U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker back to Saigon Friday to get a first hand look at U.S.-Vietnamese pacification and rehabilitation programs. They are Ambassador Eugenia M. Anderson; Miss Anna Strauss, a former U.N. delegate and president of the League of Women Voters; and Mrs. Norman Chandler, an executive of the Los Angeles Times. The three women will be in South Vietnam about one week and meet with Vietnamese and U.S. officials as well as tour social welfare projects both inside and outside Saigon.

Sato Reshuffles Cabinet

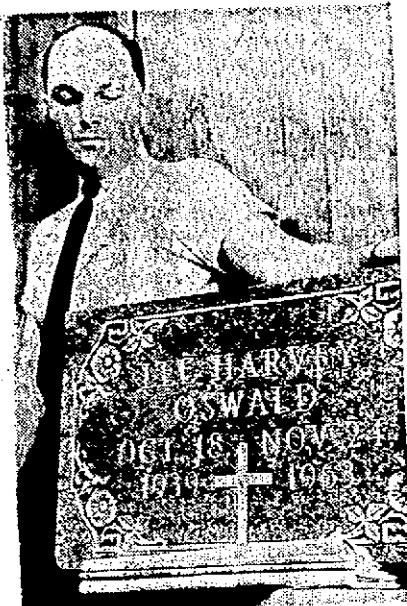

TOKYO — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato today accepted resignation of his cabinet members prior to a cabinet reshuffle. The resignations were tendered at an extraordinary cabinet meeting. Sato was to announce his new cabinet following consultations with Chief Cabinet Secretary Toshio Kimura and three top executives of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party named Friday. Sato, recently returned from a visit to the United States, said he reshuffled the cabinet "to strengthen party power."

Labor Loses at Polls

LONDON — The Labor Party suffered a severe defeat Friday in the first by-election since the pound was devalued. The Conservatives held Derbyshire West, a seat they had won before, with a sharply increased majority. Labor dropped to third place, below the usual also-rans, the Liberals.

11 Killed in Rioting

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — Violent riots rocked the Malaysian island of Penang as leftwing demonstrators stoned the offices of the U.S. Information Agency and battled police in the third day of violent protest against partial devaluation of the Malaysian currency. Police said 11 persons were killed and at least 44 seriously injured as the riots turned into racial clashes between Chinese and Malays.

HEADSTONE FOUND

The missing headstone to Lee Harvey Oswald's Ft. Worth grave is examined by detective Charles Spencer after it was found Friday in park in Bartlesville, Okla. Two unidentified teen-agers passing through, took the stone as a practical joke—four years to the day after assassination of John F. Kennedy by Oswald, according to Warren Commission.

Tornadoes Hit Areas in South

BIRMINGHAM — Severe storms, some packing tornadoes, lashed portions of the South Friday, leaving at least seven persons injured in the Huntsville, Ala., area. A twister touched down in Huntsville and skipped on to the nearby community of Big Cove. All of the injuries were sustained in Big Cove. The tornado came within 100 yards of a large apartment development housing 450 persons but passed without doing any damage there. Rain and thunderstorms were occurring from Alabama and the Carolinas to the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic states. A rainy cold front doused the Pacific Northwest and carried more snow into the western mountains. New England and the Midwest had rain, the Northern Plains light snow.

Highway Toll Down

CHICAGO — The Thanksgiving holiday weekend traffic death toll mounted steadily today but its slower pace indicated there might be fewer fatalities than the record 748 killed during the same holiday last year. Halfway through the four-day holiday period that will end at midnight Sunday the traffic toll stood at 274. While the early pace of traffic deaths lagged, traffic officials said this trend could be reversed in the holiday's final hours when thousands of home-bound cars jam the nation's highways. Inclement weather over wide areas of the country created hazardous driving conditions. California had 27 traffic deaths, Kentucky counted 19, Pennsylvania and Ohio 15 each, Virginia 14, Texas 13 and Indiana 12.

Chrysler Contract Talks

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers went back into contract talks Friday, heading toward another weekend marathon in the face of a threatened strike by Chrysler's "white collar" workers.

68th Airliner Death

CINCINNATI — The death toll resulting from a Trans World airline crash Monday night climbed one notch to 68 persons Friday while investigators continued their search for a missing altimeter. Judith Chupac of Burbank, Calif., who had been hospitalized since the tragic accident near here, died at Cincinnati General Hospital. Her husband, Steven, was killed Monday in the crash. Gov. James A. Rhodes, citing pilots' complaints received by his state aviation director, asked the FAA for an "expert investigation" of greater Cincinnati Airport and suggested that the airport's north-south runway might be closed pending the investigation.

Johnson Holiday Whirl

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Texas friends of the first family are turning on the parties this weekend for the President's daughter Lynda Bird and her fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb. Warren Woodward and his wife, close friends of the Johnsons, pulled out all the stops for a glittering dinner-dance Friday night at the Dallas Club in Dallas. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby gives a dinner-dance for the couple tonight at Houston's Ramada Club. There were no plans for President and Mrs. Johnson to attend but Lynda's sister Luci and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, took in the party whirl. The President was babysitting at the ranch with his grandson, 5-month-old Patrick Lyndon.

Combined News Services

A group of disgruntled San Mateo County Republicans today launches a write in campaign to elect Shirley Temple Black to Congress.

"We have already set up a campaign headquarters and plan to contact every registered Republican to urge them to vote for Mrs. Black in the election Dec. 12," said Dr. Maurice A. Bliss of Hillsborough, a conservative Republican and one of Shirley's biggest fans.

Shirley's chances for election to Congress seemed to have been torpedoed when she lost the Nov. 14 primary election to fellow Republican Paul N. ("Pete") McCloskey.

The write-in campaign does not, however, have Mrs. Black's approval. "I am not a candidate," the former child star, now 39, said from her Hillsborough home. She said she had "heard rumors about the write-in, but that's about all. I didn't authorize any write-in campaign."

Bliss and Lt. Cmdr. H. Richard O'Hara (USN-Ret.), both members of the conservative united Republicans of California, are spearheading the effort.

"A chain-letter is being circulated to Republicans. It may develop into a steamroller," O'Hara said.

JAILED

Black Power advocate Fred Brooks, who told Senate investigators Wednesday he would approve shooting Mrs. Lyndon Johnson "if she was my enemy," was arrested in Nashville, Tenn., Friday on a charge of refusing to submit himself for induction into the Army.

Brooks, 20, former Nashville chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee lost his draft deferment status when he was suspended from Tennessee A&I State University after two nights of racial violence last April.

TICHENOR PARENTS
Hope for Another Error

2ND TRAGEDY

A Chico, Calif., couple reported Friday that a casket believed to contain the body of their son killed in Vietnam arrived at the Oakland Army Base carrying the remains of another man.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams were notified earlier this month that their son, John, 21, died of gunshot wounds from fire directed at a helicopter in the battle for Dak To. Adams said the army told him Friday that the body which had just arrived in Oakland was not that of Spec. 5 John R. Adams.

"We're not even sure now it was our son that was shot down," Adams said. "It's like we've been through this twice... We don't know whether to get our hopes up or not."

Their situation was similar to that of Mrs. Samuel Tichenor of Louisville, Ky.

"I keep hoping the Army is wrong again," Mrs. Tichenor said Friday as she awaited the return of her son's body to his hometown.

"I never had anything tear me up so," she continued, "but I'm very happy for the other family." The mixup began in Vietnam when Pfc. Quinn W. Tichenor was killed in action and his body erroneously identified as that of Pfc. John W. Guinn, a member of the same outfit. The mistake wasn't caught until Tichenor's body was buried in Elizabethtown, Tenn., by Guinn's family.

"Maybe, just maybe," said Mrs. Tichenor, "they may have made another mistake and that's not my boy coming home."

In Elizabethtown, Tenn., Friday, the happy mother of Guinn, fainted after her son stepped from an airliner which brought him home from Vietnam into her arms.

NO DIVORCE

Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. and blonde, Swedish-born actress May Britt, whose interracial wedding seven years ago caused a sensation, have no plans for divorce.

A spokesman for Davis said in Hollywood: "The decision between the Davises to separate is a mutual one resulting from many long absences from each other over the last few years which have caused a strain on their marriage."

Davis, 40, and Miss Britt, 33, were married Nov. 13, 1960 in a Jewish ceremony at Davis' Los Angeles home. Both are converts to Judaism. They have three children, a daughter, Tracey Hillevi, 6, and two adopted sons, Mark, 7, and Jeff, 3.

Announcement of the split came only two days after Davis' long-time friend Frank Sinatra announced a trial separation from his young wife, Mia Farrow.

'ATROCITIES'

Two men identifying themselves as American veterans of the Vietnam war told the Bertrand Russell tribunal in Denmark Friday that atrocities were committed by American soldiers in Vietnam.

Donald W. Duncan, 37, of Albany, Calif., who works for Ramparts magazine, was one witness.

The other David K. Tuck, of Cleveland, Ohio, who said he was a former infantryman, testified it was "a token order from higher-ups" that no prisoners should be taken. He said when his eight-man team captured four men, his commander told him over the telephone: "Get rid of them."

"I chose to ignore this and sent the POWs to camp," he said. "The commander was very angry. He made it very plain that we should have murdered them."

Duncan said the Viet Cong do the same thing. He said he did not know of any torture or atrocities committed by Americans but said American officers were present, when members of the Special Forces strike force — South Vietnamese mercenaries — did it.

In Cleveland, Tuck's mother said "He is truthful — if he says these things happened, I believe him." Mrs. Tuck said while her bachelor son was in Vietnam he worked as an Army mail clerk, and in Cleveland he is a postoffice clerk. Another son, Thomas, 20, received an Army court-martial in July after refusing to bear arms.

ALL-WESTERN BAND REVIEW

Throng Expected at Parade

A huge throng is expected to jam Ocean Boulevard by noon today when the 27th annual All-Western Band Review steps out — majorettes strutting, instruments gleaming and flag twirlers swinging.

The parade will start at Falcon Avenue and proceed west to Cedar Avenue, although the official competition area is from Orange Avenue to a point 200 feet west of Corcoran Avenue.

Winners of awards in the competition will be announced tonight, following a concert by the Municipal Band in Long Beach Arena.

Tonight's show at the Arena will also feature band finals of the senior girls division of the California State Twirling Championships.

Special added feature of the parade and show will be the appearance of Claudette's Majorettes, 1967-68 senior National Baton Corps champions from Knoxville, Tenn.

Claudette Riley, who founded the colorful troupe, will head the visiting entourage. She is former Miss Majorette of America. Miss Riley's group also features the talents of Karen Oakes, current Junior Miss Majorette.

A total of 72 bands — more than 7,000 musicians — will perform in the gala parade. At least 300 boy and girl drum majors, majorettes and flag twirlers will also be on hand.

Different Solons for Hubby, Wife?

Congressman Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, has asked state legislators to reconsider a proposed reapportionment line which "crashes through Rossmore like a runaway bulldozer."

The proposed line, separating Hosmer's 32nd District and the 34th District of Congressman Richard T. Hanna, D-Fullerton, runs directly west from the center of the intersection at Los Alamitos Boulevard and Orangewood Avenue.

That line is straight Hosmer notes, but Rossmore's streets "are curving or at angles."

"Conceptually the dividing line might pass down the middle of a bed, and husband and wife would have different congressmen, depending on which side of the bed they sleep."

Hosmer, in telegrams to state legislators, including Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and Sen. James R. Mills, suggests returning the reapportionment bill to conference for correction.

Hosmer suggests moving the line northward from the intersection to Katella Avenue, then west down the centerline of Katella to the Los Angeles County line.

Bids Opened on College Library Job

An Anaheim firm is the apparent low bidder for construction of Orange Coast College's new library building.

Kiely Corp's bid of $844,800 was the lowest of 12 which ranged up to $998,888.

School trustees will meet 8 p.m. Wednesday to act upon the bids.

Plans call for a 52,500-square-foot, four-story library to be constructed immediately north of the present counseling center on the Costa Mesa campus.

South Gate GM Dispute Resolved

Striking General Motors workers will return to work Monday after voting to end their walkout at the company's South Gate plant.

The strike, approved by the United Auto Workers headquarters in Detroit, was over local issues. General Motors and the UAW reached accord on the broad terms of a new contract last week, leaving only the local issues to be resolved.

The union said Friday the membership in South Gate is satisfied those issues have been resolved.

Tabulation Friday of the union's 2,900 members approved terms of the settlement involved in the local issues.

General Motors was the last of the Big Three automakers to face negotiations with the UAW in the union's drive for 1968 contracts.

Included in the union gains was a guaranteed annual wage, a provision described by UAW President Walter Reuther as one of the "most significant achievements in American labor history."

It marked the first time a major firm had agreed to the guaranteed wage provisions.

Admiral Bergner

Assumes Command

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Rear Adm. Allen A. Bergner assumed command of the naval training center Friday. It was the first time in the 44-year history of the center that an admiral was assigned the post.

Bergner relieved Capt. Ralph H. Lockwood who remains at the center as commander of recruit training.

Meatcutters, Chains Exchange Charges

Meatcutters on strike against 19 Southland market chains Friday charged the struck stores were selling uninspected meat and had hiked the price of most of the meat by 75 per cent.

The Food Employers Council, which represents the markets, branded the charge as "ridiculous."

"This is just another tactic of union leaders to try to win this strike with lies, threats and coercion," said Robert K. Fox, council president.

The strike by the Meat Cutters Union, now in its 13th day, has sharply reduced meat supplies in many Southland supermarkets.

Negotiations between the union and the markets continued Friday without apparent progress.

In addition to wages, the union says it will not yield on the demand that markets be allowed to establish central packaging plants and permit apprentice butchers to operate heavy electrical equipment.

Robert Castrey of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service called the butchers and market owners back for another session at 10 a.m. today, but didn't specify if a Sunday meet will be held.

The FEC announced Friday it had shut down its Vernon packaging plant, which as recently as Thursday, was producing 300,000 pounds of meat cuts daily. The FEC earlier said it would open similar plants in Burbank and Chula Vista.

Fox said the markets had "adjusted to the strike and are able to take care of their own meat needs."

BOBBY CALLED TRAITOR

Phone Message Assails Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy brushed aside Friday a right-wing assault — available at the twisting of a phone dial — suggesting he is guilty of treason and incitement to anarchy.

"The senator doesn't care to dignify every extremist who makes a wild charge," an aide to the New York Democrat said.

A recorded message from "Let Freedom Ring" could be dialed on the Washington telephone exchange this week — the fourth anniversary of the week in which Kennedy's brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated.

"... Kennedy said he would be willing to give his blood to our Communist enemies in Vietnam," the recorded, anonymous voice said.

"Isn't advocating the giving of blood to enemy troops treason, just as much as dynamiting a defense plant or assassinating the President? If this isn't treason, then how do you define the term?"

IN A NEWS conference two years ago, Kennedy said he would not object to the giving of blood to North Vietnamese soldiers — through an agency like the International Red Cross, and with U.S. government approval.

"I'd rather concentrate on the South Vietnamese, and those who need it," Kennedy said, "but I'm in favor of giving blood to anyone... I think that's in the oldest tradition of this country."

The scripts for "Let Freedom Ring" are written by a Sarasota, Fla., physician, William C. Douglass. Douglass said Friday that while there is no formal link between his organization and the John Birch Society, "I've been a Birch Society member for six or seven years."

Robert Welch, leader of the militantly conservative Birch group, said the society "had nothing to do with 'Let Freedom Ring.' Nobody is speaking for the John Birch Society on these recordings."

THE MESSAGE said Kennedy "is harnessing many of the liberal and revolutionary groups together, from the UAW (United Auto Workers) to the ARM (Revolutionary Action Movement) and other Chinese Communist-oriented Negro groups."

"With vast amounts of money, much of which comes from the reluctant American taxpayer, Kennedy is building a political phalanx for his relentless drive to the White House."

Kennedy's press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, said the charges are "so false as to be comical." He said nothing in the message "even approaches the truth."

Youth Group Antiwar Group Sues Holds Rally Torrance for Parade for Nation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Several hundred delegates to an Assembly of God Youth Convention massed on the Capitol's west steps Friday to show support "for God and country."

Paul R. Haerle, Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointments secretary, told the youth their assembly was "solemn and very impressive testimony" that protest demonstrations do not represent "the true state of mind of the American student."

Haerle told the crowd the governor is "100" per cent behind law and order.

An antiwar group Friday filed suit in Los Angeles Superior Court to overturn a denial by the Torrance City Council for a peace march there Dec. 16.

The suit, filed by the South Bay Vietnam Today Committee, seeks to force the council to issue a parade permit.

Judge Ralph H. Nutter set the hearing for Dec. 5.

The peace organization, headed by parade chairman Jim Berland, charged the City Council has not complied with the Torrance city code by allowing a hearing on the parade permit.

Last Oct. 19 an application to hold the parade was filed with the council, but deemed denied when the license review board did not mail a decision within 10 days.

The organization, in the suit filed Friday, contended it applied twice for a hearing, but the council denied the parade permit without a hearing.

Crime Rate Cited Reason for Increase in Court Staff

Rising crime rate was cited by the county chief administration officer as he recommended additional municipal court staffing Friday to meet skyrocketing criminal caseload which has resulted in more than 25 per cent increase in preliminary hearings.

Reagan Talk Set for S.F.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan will address the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders Thursday in San Francisco, his office announced Friday.

After his speech at the St. Francis Hotel, Reagan will attend a luncheon at which Gov. Robert Chaffee of Rhode Island will speak.

On Monday, the governor will meet with representatives of the County Supervisors Association of California at the capital.

Lindon S. Hollinger said three new court commissioners must be added for a mounting workload which can no longer be handled by attorneys sitting as judges pro tem.

Opening of the three courtrooms will also require hiring three clerks, three public defenders and three deputy district attorneys.

Hollinger said the new employees will add $93,277 to county payroll costs for the balance of the fiscal year.

Poll Shows Regents Discuss 11% Favor Student Fee Hike Wallace

MADERA (UPI) — Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, taking note of a poll which showed 11 per cent of California voters prefer him as a presidential candidate, brought his third party campaign to California's farmland Friday.

However, his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace, did not accompany him. A spokesman said she would meet her husband in Los Angeles, and would not accompany him on his two-day tour of the San Joaquin Valley.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A special committee of the University of California Board of Regents held a closed meeting Friday to discuss possible increases in student fees.

A spokesman for the regents said the eight-member committee held an "executive working session" to consider a large amount of data pertaining to the matter.

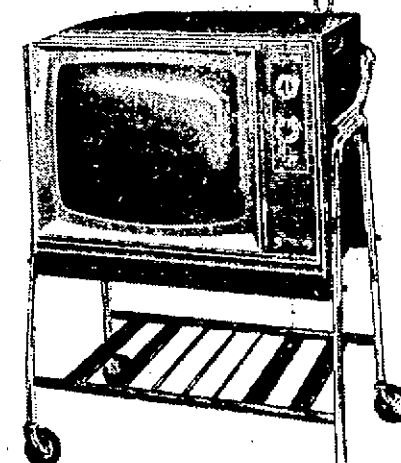

There was no immediate report as to what decision, if any, the committee made during its day-long meeting at San Francisco International Airport.

"It has always been my hope that we can come to agreement on recommendations for the full board on Dec. 1," said Regent Dewitt Higgs of San Diego, chairman of the committee.

VIET FOE WEAKER

U.S. Guessed High on Red Strength

New York Times Service

SAIGON — The American Command Friday issued a revised estimate of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong strength in Vietnam or poised along its borders. The total was put at 223,000 to 248,000. Of these, 118,000 were said to be in main force battle units, 35,000 to 40,000 in administrative and support activities and 70,000 to 90,000 in local guerrilla units.

In addition, the enemy was said to have 75,000 to 85,000 officials such as hamlet chiefs, tax collectors and propagandists operating in the south.

However, this category, as well as the so-called village self defense force and totaling perhaps 30,000 to 50,000, will no longer be included in the enemy order of battle, the command spokesman, Brig. Gen. Winant Sidle, said.

Sidle said that the new study, which has been in preparation for several months, was based on improved intelligence data. The information on main force units, he stated, was regarded as the most reliable, with the estimate on guerrilla strength acknowledged to be "spotty."

For the past year, the command has estimated total enemy strength at 297,000, although Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander in Vietnam who is now in the United States, has stated several times that it had declined by 40,000 in the past year.

The new estimate provides statistical backing for his statement by noting that the main force is believed to have totaled 127,000 a year ago and the guerrilla force 100,000 to 127,000.

'Cain Mutiny' Case Closed by the Navy

Navy circles. The fired officer himself had bombarded the Pentagon with letters, demands for interviews, and appeals for new inquiries into the case.

He has also managed to enlist in his cause the support of retired admirals, an Air Force general, and a man regarded as one of the Navy's most promising young officers—Capt. Richard G. Alexander, the commander-designate of the USS New Jersey, which next spring will become the world's only battleship in active commission.

THE CASE of Arnhelter and his ship is complex, but the sequence of events, pieced together from Pentagon and other sources, is roughly as follows:

Arnhelter, 42, assumed command of the radar picket ship USS Vance in Pearl Harbor on Dec. 22, 1965. Shortly thereafter, the vessel was sent to Vietnam, where it spent several months patrolling South Vietnamese waters.

Arnhelter and his superiors are in agreement on at least one point: The ship he inherited had a history of poor discipline and low morale. What they differ on—and this is the crux of the Navy's case—is the way in which Arnhelter sought to turn a disorganized vessel into a tight ship.

SHORTLY after his arrival on board, Arnhelter introduced a program of "guidance" or character-building sessions on the deck. According to his own account, given in recent interview, they would last about 25 minutes, and include an invocation, prayers and remarks by Arnhelter.

"The idea," he said in a recent interview in the Washington Post, "was to prepare the men to go into battle."

The sessions angered his operations officer, Lt. William I. Generous, 27, who is now studying for his Ph.D. in history at Stanford University. Generous, a Catholic, complained that the sessions were fundamentally religious in nature, "infringement" on his constitutional rights.

Generous wrote Jan. 23, 1966, to Lieut. Richard L. Osterman, a Navy chaplain. Other officers and members of the crew also wrote letters which apparently filtered up through Navy channels.

HOWEVER, the most influential testimony against Arnhelter before his removal from command appears to have been collected—according to high Pentagon sources here—by Lieut. George D. Dando, who spent two weeks aboard ship as its chaplain. When the ship put in at Subic Bay in the Philippines, Dando hurried to his immediate superior, Cmdr. Donald W. Milligan, commander of Escort Squadron 7, and reported that he had been deeply disturbed by the complaints of the men aboard the Vance.

At Milligan's request, Dando summarized these complaints in a memorandum. Pentagon sources said the complaints concerned not only the services, but "20 or 30 other items."

According to Dando's summary, as reported by the Pentagon sources here, the officers and crew aboard the Vance had given misleading reports on the position of his ship to other ships in the squadron; that he had brought alcoholic beverages aboard; that he had instituted a system of fines for the use of the wrong fork at the dinner table, for sloppiness, and for other breaches of etiquette; and that one time he had required his officers to give a short dissertation on a subject written on a piece of paper under their plates.

Fleet Beefed Up in Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP) — A larger-than-usual force of U.S. aircraft carriers steamed in the Mediterranean with the 6th Fleet far from Cyprus and not yet especially alerted because of the Greek-Turkish crisis.

As is usual in situations of this sort, the Navy declined to say anything about the disposition of the 50 ships of the 6th Fleet, or about any alerts.

However, it was learned that there are three big U.S. aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean at this time. Normally, the 6th Fleet includes two carriers.

The presence of the third carrier was described as coincidental because the 78,000-ton Saratoga is due to be relieved and ordered back to the United States. The Saratoga's relief, the 42,000-ton Shangri La, is said to have arrived in the Mediterranean. The third big carrier in the Mediterranean is the 62,000-ton Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Coincidence or not, the presence of the third carrier gives the United States added naval resources to bring to bear in the crisis, if it should become necessary.

For the most part, the ships of the 6th Fleet are to the west of Greece, while Cyprus is in the Eastern Mediterranean.

An amphibious squadron of six ships carrying some 2,000 Marines currently is afloat south of France. Any ground intervention by the United States likely would involve this squadron.

Gold Rush No Threat to Dollar

don that the French government was behind the run on gold in an effort to weaken the dollar.

On the contrary, the sources said, France has sold some gold to prevent the gold price on the Paris bourse from getting too much out of line with the price in London, the world's biggest gold market.

According to American experts, a serious threat to the dollar was conceivable only if several of the world's leading trade nations with several billion dollars tried deliberately to wreck the system.

But only six countries outside the U.S. hold more than $1 billion each in reserve currencies. They are Germany, Italy, Japan, Canada, Australia and Britain.

ALL ARE heavily dependent on trade with the U.S., and none is likely to start a deliberate onslaught on the dollar. Furthermore, the experts said, there is little chance that any combination of private speculators could put up enough gold to threaten the dollar seriously.

France alone could not start a sustained run on gold, they said. Nearly 80 percent of its monetary reserves already are tied up in gold. Its liquid currency reserves are estimated at about $500 million—most of it needed to finance current transactions with little available for further gold purchases.

Rep. Henry Ruess, D-Wis., chairman of the House banking and currency subcommittee on international finance, warned gold speculators Friday that they will be "left holding the bag" when the crisis is passed.

Oil Firm Loss

Turks Set to Hit Cyprus; U.N. in Emergency Session

wolf and diverting the attention of the world."

Turkey presented Greece with a virtual ultimatum to get its troops out of the island, or face an invasion. Sources at the United Nations said that only high waves and low cloud cover around Cyprus were preventing the Turkish invasion fleet from moving.

Greece has infiltrated a division of about 7,000 men into the island, in addition to the 950 troops it was allowed to station there under the 1960 independence agreement. Turkish war cries were sounded after between 25 and 30 Cypriots—most members of the Turkish minority—were killed in a clash with Greek and Greek Cypriot troops last week. Turks are outnumbered almost five to one by the island's Greek community.

Thant, relaying an on-the-spot report from a personal envoy, Jose Rolz-Bennett of Guatemala, said "the situation is very dangerous."

HE PROPOSED A phased reduction of all foreign troops on the island—other than the British, who have a sovereign base there—until only the 4,500 member U.N. peace force remains.

Russides said Cyprus would be "happy to have the foreign forces eliminated, provided the United Nations would guarantee our territorial integrity."

British delegate Lord Caradon, a delegate of Cyprus when it was a British colony, appealed for restraint on all sides.

"If we attempt in our debate to increase animosity and to make wild accusations, then it may well be that we shall fail in our task on this dangerous night," Caradon said.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko placed major blame on the Greeks—and the United States—and declared "hardly anyone can believe that the Greek soldiers acted in Cyprus without the influence of the United States, because Greece now is firmly in the grip of U.S. military bases."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who flew from his Virginia farm for the emergency session, dismissed Fedorenko's statement as "Soviet boilerplate."

Thant declared the U.N. "must do all it can to avert the catastrophe." He issued an impassioned appeal to the leaders of Greece, Turkey and Cyprus to "exercise utmost restraint... to avoid all acts of force or the threats of recourse to force."

Thant warned that "indications at the moment are that Greece and Turkey are at the brink of war over Cyprus."

'Old Pro' Survives Tiger Snake Bite

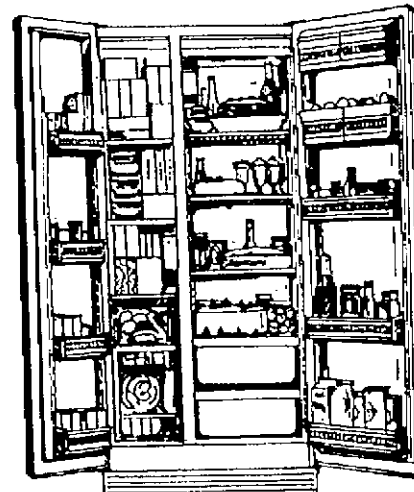

MIAMI (UPI) — Bill Haast, a professional snake handler who has survived 102 poisonous snake bites, was "much improved" Friday after being bitten by a deadly Australian tiger snake.

Haast, 56, was bitten Thursday while milking venom from the snake at his South Dade County serpentarium, a feat he performs regularly before crowds of tourists. It was the 102nd such attack Haast has sustained. His blood has been used as an antidote in treating persons suffering snake bite.

ners, with about 50 per cent being retained by the bookmakers who dealt directly with the public. The balance was being returned up the distribution chain, officers said.

They said the weekly cards were printed in Los Angeles on odds-making information supplied out of Las Vegas.

Two bartenders were arrested in Long Beach, and in the Wilmington area three persons were booked for taking bets and two others for possession of narcotics.

STILL SOUGHT Friday was a distributor and his partner who, officers said, distributed the cards to the salesmen in the Long Beach area.

Among suspects arrested on suspicion of book-making were: Hugh Donald Toney, 52, at Old Mexico, 237 Elm Ave., where he is a bartender, and Melvin L. Fresen, 47, of 645 W. Third St., bartender at the Derby Cafe, 1912 E. Anaheim St. Waldo Terry Wood, 55, of 21935 Harvard Blvd., in the Carson area; Pete Peterson, 31, and Mrs. Carolyn Grace Grimes, 26, both of 933 Bayview Ave., Wilmington.

Police reported officers armed with search warrants also arrested Adolfo Samuel Chacon, 33, on suspicion of possessing narcotics at the Bayview Avenue address. They said he had a quantity of heroin and two hypodermic outfits.

Similarly, they said, Jo Anne Farmer, 37, of 726 W. 33rd St., San Pedro, was booked on suspicion of possessing narcotics when arrested there. They said about 30 marijuana cigarettes were found concealed in a chest.

TV Censors Hone Scissors for Today's Crop of Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The director of broadcast ing's self-censorship code has been in town for some tough talk with movie makers about the kind of films that can be seen on television.

Washington-based Howard H. Bell, director of the code authority for the National Association of Broadcasters, came to Hollywood to acquaint the studios with how the code works. It's tougher than the lately liberalized self-censorship of movies.

"It has to be tougher," explained Bell. "After all, television comes into the home and can be seen by persons of all ages. We can't recommend certain programs for mature audiences, as the movie makers do."

"Even the presenting of shows late in the evening is no assurance that young persons won't be watching. In today's society, teenagers might well be watching TV at midnight."

That means that the industry's censors will be standing ready with scissors as today's crop of out spoken movies hits the home screens in two or three years. But Bell, who tries to keep up with the current films as well as television programming, believes that most of the movies will be able to play television.

"In most cases if there is a nude scene or a profane word, such scenes can be deleted without any serious damage to the story line," he observed.

"THERE are a few films, however, that could not be cut. I recently saw Ulysses, and I believe that it is so completely frank in its language and action—albeit a classic story and well-produced—that it could never appear on television. Not in our lifetimes, at any rate."

On the other hand, Bell thinks that "Reflections in a Golden Eye" might some day be approved for television, despite its homosexual theme.

"A valid story of homosexuality could be a suitable subject for television, provided it is not presented for shock value or sensation," he observed. "We feel that any important theme can be treated in television as long as it is done in good taste."

Bell also believes that "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" might some day be available on the home screen.

Death, Where Is Thy Sting? Not at the Box Office

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD — Authors bequeath books and bricklayers their handiwork, but screen actors are uniquely privileged: they leave themselves.

Immortalized on film and sound track, they remain after death as real and vibrant to their public as when they trod the movie stages. And death has no sting at the box office — except as a stimulant in rare instances where cult followings develop.

About 900 students paid their way into UCLA's Royce Hall recently to applaud two movies a combined 38 years old, featuring six actors now dead.

The hip collegians laughed at a now camp touch in 1933's "Shane" — a mongrel slinking away to underscore a gunfighter's villainy. But they clearly relished two of the greatest fight sequences ever filmed and the heroics of Alan Ladd, clean-looking, deep-voiced and laconic in fringed buckskins as he drove the bad guys from the settlers' valley. "Casablanca" has been on television countless times and like "Shane" seemed tiny in its old 3 by 4 format on the wide screen. But the students applauded Humphrey Bogart when he appeared, suave and cynical. The 1943 film also had suave Claude Rains, sinister Sydney Greenstreet, sly Peter Lorre and excitable S. Z. Sakall — all, like Bogie, now gone but seemingly as alive as ever.

A more spectacular example of deceased actors' immortality at the box office is "Gone With the Wind," which MGM has released for the sixth time after a take of $40 million on previous rounds. Now it's in wide-screen format and six-track sound.

Of its stars, only Olivia de Havilland is still alive. Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh and Leslie Howard are gone, but a studio spokesman says: "Their passing doesn't seem to have one whit of effect. It's bigger than anything we've had in years."

Studios generally avoid releasing a film too soon after the star's death for fear of seeming to commercialize. Spencer Tracy died last June, but "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" won't be shown until December and Columbia won't advertise it as his last film.

Cult followings gave Rudolph Valentino and James Dean bigger popularity in death than in life. But stars' last pictures also can fail.

Examples: Jean Harlow's "Saratoga," completed with a double after she died; Gable's "The Misfits" and Montgomery Clift's "The Defector."

COMPUTER CHESS: RUSS DEFEAT U.S.

MOSCOW (NYTS) — The world's first international chess match played by electronic computers has ended with a victory of the Soviet Union over the United States.

Of the four games played, two were won by the Soviet computer and two ended in draws.

A team of Moscow mathematicians competed with mathematicians of Stanford University in programming the computers.

BOOK REVIEWS

Notebooks Reveal Progress of Dylan Thomas

THE NOTEBOOKS OF DYLAN THOMAS. Edited by Ralph Maud. New Directions, $8.50.

his most productive period — 1930 to 1934. New Directions is to be commended for making their contents available to admirers of the great Welsh poet, and to all who love poetry.

The notebooks are valuable in enabling one to view the progress of a great poet. For instance, among their contents are this version (1932) of "The Hunchback in the Park."

A solitary mister
Propped between trees
and water,
Going daft for fifty-seven years,
Is (getting) dafter,
A cripple children call at,
Half-laughing, by no other name than mister,

They shout hey mister Running when he has heard them clearly
Past lake and rockery
On out of sight

This is the hunchback 10 years later:

The hunchback in the park
A solitary mister
Propped between trees
and water
From the opening of the garden lock
That let the trees and water enter
Until the Sunday sombre bell at dark
Eating bread from a newspaper
Drinking water from the chained cup
That the children filled with gravel
Thomas later reworked some of the drafts in the notebooks, and obtained inspiration from many others. Of the 200 poems in the notebooks, 40 are variants of those in Thomas' "Collected Poems"; the rest are here published for the first time — Nat Honig.

A TRAVELER'S HISTORY OF GREECE. By A. R. Burn. Funk and Wagnalls, $8.50.

The arts of the storyteller and the historian are intertwined in this history of ancient Greece from Neolithic times to the closing of the schools of philosophy by the Christian Emperor Justinian in 529 A.D. A guide for tourist, armchair traveler and students of classical culture alike.

ROMANIA. By Dumitru Bericu. Ancient Peoples and Places Series. Praeger, $7.50.

From the south, the Aegean, Anatolia and the Near East, an endless succession of peoples and tribes found their way to Romania, for it was a true crossroads of Europe. From the Neolithic Age, through the splendid Bronze Age and the Iron Age, this book by a Romanian archeologist of world repute surveys the flux of peoples and their contributions.

THE COMPLETE POETRY OF JOHN DUNNE. Edited with an introduction, notes and variants by John T. Shawcross. Doubleday Anchor Books, $3.95.

All of the poetry of Dunne, who founded the school of metaphysical poetry, is here — the elegies, the songs and sonnets, the satires, the divine poems and the epigrams. Included also are the elegies to Donne by such of his friends as Ben Jonson, Sir Thomas Browne, Isaac Walton, Thomas Carew and Henry King.

Long Beach to Honor Policemen for Heroism

By DON BRACKENBURY

A commendation program for Long Beach police officers, headed by the award of a Medal of Valor for extraordinary acts of heroism, was announced Friday by City Manager John R. Mansell.

As an "integral part" of the program, Mansell said, the Police Department also will make official recognition of other city employees and private citizens for meritorious service in the field of law enforcement.

The three-fold purpose of the program, Mansell said, is:

—To encourage all officers of the Police Department to take an active part in improving the effectiveness of city government.

—To provide recognition for those who contribute toward the efficiency of departmental operations.

—To provide rewards for outstanding achievement and meritorious service.

"The program also will make the public mindful of the outstanding performances of Long Beach police officers," Mansell said.

There will be four types of commendations, topped by the Medal of Valor, for police officers. They are:

Medal of Valor — For an extraordinary act of heroism by a police officer, extending far above and beyond the normal call of duty or service, performed at great risk to his own safety or life in an effort to save human life.

Class A — For an act of heroism by a police officer, extending above and beyond the normal call of duty or service, performed at great risk to his own safety or life in an effort to save human life.

Class B, Special Act — For an act of heroism by a police officer, extending above and beyond the normal call of duty or service, performed at personal risk to save property.

Class C, Special Service — For the performing of an act by a police officer under emergency conditions, where bravery is involved, but which is not above and beyond the normal call of duty; or other outstanding performance of duty.

The award to other city employees or to private citizens is designated the Certificate of Community Service. It will be presented as follows:

—For acts of bravery in aiding, or attempting to aid, another citizen or a member of the Police Department.

—For acts not amounting to bravery, where necessary assistance is rendered to save the life of a citizen or member of the Police Department.

—For outstanding assistance rendered to the community or the Police Department.

The Medal of Valor will consist of a medal, a lapel pin in the form of a miniature of the medal, and a certificate.

Class A will consist of a pin with diamond and a certificate, while Class B will consist of a pin and a certicate. The Class C and Certificate of Community Service awards both will be certificates.

All commendations will be presented at a special awards banquet. Presentations will be made by the city manager and the chief of police.

A five-member Commendation Board, including a representative of the patrol, traffic, detective and juvenile divisions, will classify all recommendations for commendations.

Reports classified as Class A will be forwarded to a special Awards and Decorations Board, composed of the assistant chief of police and all division commanders, for consideration for Medal of Valor.

Medal of Valor awards will be authorized by the city manager, following consultation with the chief of police.

The program was worked out by the In-Service Training office of the Police Department, headed by Lt. Don Tubbs, in conjunction with the city's personnel division.

Nobody Says Who Lost All That Oil

They were fishing with dip-nets Friday afternoon in the oily waters around the Leeward Bay Marina.

Fishing wasn't so good, except for weeds, sticks, planks, cans, bottles, rubber and plastic balls, shoes, tires and milk cartons, all covered with black oil.

The fishermen were workers employed by an untalkative outfit that wouldn't mention which of Refinery Row's various oil refineries was paying the bill.

"NO ONE ADMITS ANYTHING," commented Capt. W. H. Putnam of the State Department of Fish and Game, watching from a rocky bank of the Dominguez Channel near Henry Ford Boulevard and Anaheim Street in Wilmington.

"All we know is that several of the refineries lost some oil during the big rainstorm, and the oil has been floating down the channel into the harbor.

"So far, it has pretty well gone-up 150 small craft at this marina."

A 17-man crew did the fishing. There were six black skiffs with two men each, collecting junk from the greasy mess using broom-handle dips with wire screens on the ends.

There were other workmen in two trucks and in a power boat, which arrived pulling a 200-foot length of floating plastic tubing, for "booming" the scummy oil.

"No one blames the refineries for all the floating trash in the channel," Putnam said. "That comes from people who toss trash off the banks and bridges.

"We have a good idea which refineries lost the oil. But so far, the refinery men just stand around and look at each other, and no one admits — Word One."

Two Youngsters Killed in Mishaps

Two area youngsters — a 3-year-old Long Beach boy struck by a heavy timber and a 6-month-old Torrance girl who choked on an aspirin — were killed Friday in unrelated freak mishaps.

Jackie Eugene Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stark, 5477 Orange Ave., was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital about 5:30 p.m.

He was riding his tricycle in the family garage when his brother, Eddie, 6, leaned against an 8-foot board, sending it crashing down on the tot's head, police said.

A neighbor boy, Robert

Kinney, 8, ran to the victim's parents to tell them Jackie had been hurt. They rushed to the garage and found the boy unconscious under the heavy board, police said.

The body was taken to Uter-McKinley Mortuary, Lakewood.

The girl, Karen Brown, of 4805 Highgrove St., died at Little Company of Mary Hospital, Torrance, about 7 p.m.

Torrance police, responding to an emergency call from the child's mother, Carolyn, they found the youngster choking and rushed her to the hospital.

Mrs. Brown told police the girl was running a slight fever and she had given her the half-tablet of aspirin, which induced a choking attack.

Two Soldiers From L.B. Area Killed in Viet

Spec. 4 Jeffrey A. Hawk, of Santa Ana, and Pfc. Donald M. Gralla, of Bellflower, both Army men, were reported killed in action in Vietnam in a casualty list issued Friday by the Defense Department.

Hawk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hawk, live at 1323 Spurgeon St., Apt. 3C. Gralla's mother is Mrs. Rose B. Further, of 9134 Cedar St.

Stereo, Togs Swiped

A burglar carried a stereo set and clothing valued at $649 out the front door of Ronald A. Maul's house at 6102 Rosebay St., he reported police Friday after returning home and finding the door open and the items missing.

ELLIS L. DAVIS

Nab Jailbreaker After L. B. Chase

One of eight escapees in a Sept. 3 Los Angeles County jailbreak was captured in Long Beach Friday after police shot out one tire on a stolen car.

Arrested was Ellis L. Davis, 23, of Venice. He and seven other prisoners escaped from the roof of the five-story county jail by sliding down a rope of mattress covers.

Davis and a companion, Frank L. Bailey, 25, of 5703 Cherry Ave., a Douglas Aircraft electronics technician, were caught after police staked out a car reported stolen in Nevada.

Patrolmen W. A. Poston and G. L. Morrill said they saw the suspects get into the auto about 3:45 a.m. and drive north on Cherry Avenue. The officers stopped the car at 61st Street.

As Poston walked toward the auto, it roared forward and turned onto Curry Street, police said. Poston shot out the rear tire, bringing it to a stop.

POLICE said they found a loaded .22-caliber pistol under the front seat.

Davis told police he borrowed the car from a friend in Nevada, and the gun "must be" the friend's.

Both suspects were booked on suspicion of grand theft auto, carrying a concealed weapon, escape and investigation of armed robbery.

Police staked out the car after receiving an anonymous tip it was involved in a holdup in Henderson, Nevada.

Diabetes Group to Hear Speaker

Dr. David Dworkin will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Long Beach Chapter of the Diabetes Association of Southern California.

The meeting, open to the public, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Long Beach Health Department, 2655 Pine Ave., Mrs. C. C. Fernandez, chapter chairman, announced.

Mary's Valparaiso Stop 'Riotous' Event

By BILL DUNCAN Staff Writer

ABOARD THE QUEEN MARY — The Queen's passengers made themselves comfortable for a four-day cruise to the Canal Zone Friday following Thanksgiving in Valparaiso — celebrated by a riot and a rousing send-off.

The weather was steadily warming as the great ship continued north toward its new home in Long Beach.

Next stop — Callao Peru — is Monday at noon.

Passengers who went ashore at Valparaiso Thursday met a warm welcome — in more ways than one.

One group, seeing the sights in the Chilean city, found themselves caught in one skirmish of a violent labor strike.

They had stopped at the Hilton Hotel for lunch, and were on their way to the presidential palace to watch the changing of the guard when they stepped into the midst of a heated battle between strikers and police.

One passenger, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, was knocked down in the melee and required brief hospitalization for leg injuries, but was released to ship's doctors before sailing time.

Consuela de Bonzo, Los Angeles representative aboard the Mary, was among several persons teargassed.

A third passenger, Donald Carpenter of Long Beach, said the group was unaware of trouble until police fired teargas at the mob, and the passengers found themselves trapped.

BUT, AS IF to make up for the incident, Valparaiso lined up for 30 city blocks to take boat rides around the Queen, and welcome signs sprouted up everywhere in the city.

Newspapers front-paged the Queen's arrival.

The dock area was crowded with Chileans who had come to see the Queen.

When the Mary sailed, small boats loaded with cheering people escorted the Queen out of the harbor.

Lt. Gov. Robert Finch and State Controller Houston Flournoy boarded the Mary at Valparaiso to ride her back to Long Beach, where she will arrive Dec. 9.

Area Blacked Out

An Artesia feed company truck backed into a power transformer Friday night and caused a half-hour blackout over east Lakewood, Artesia and Bellflower, according to sheriff's deputies.

Pair Gets $148,000 in Lawsuit

A Garden Grove couple has won damages of $148,000 in a lawsuit against the city of Garnett, Kan., as a result of a gas explosion which killed a child in their former home.

A U.S. District Court jury made the award to Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace in Kansas City, Kan.

The Wallaces, now of 13302 Jessica Drive, Garden Grove, received $22,500 for the death of the couple's 14-month-old son, Raymond; $65,000 for injuries to David Wallace, now 6; $55,000 for injuries to the elder Wallace and $5,000 for damage to personal property.

The family sought $202,000 on grounds the city, which operates a municipal gas system, was at fault for the natural gas explosion.

Helicopter Rescues Teen-Ager

A Coast Guard helicopter Friday rescued an injured Torrance teen-ager whose sand-buggy overturned in a muddy field at the base of a steep cliff near San Pedro.

The copter lifted 16-year-old Becky Gull of 1565 220th St. from the scene of the wreck near Palos Verdes Drive South and 25th Street to a waiting ambulance.

She was treated at Harbor General Hospital for a broken leg.

Police said the buggy overturned three quarters of a mile from the nearest road, and the county fire department called the Coast Guard for rescue aid.

Burglar Gets $238

While Theophilus Turner was asleep in his hotel room at 37 Locust Ave., a burglar entered and removed $238 in cash from his coat, police said Friday.

GREAT GEYSER

A 25-foot-high waterspout inundates a mailbox at Broadway and Golden Avenue Friday after a truck driven by Buddy W. Ball, 31, of 1733 E. 215th St., Torrance, clipped off a fire hydrant about 3 p.m. while making a turn.

I, P-T MAN ON SCENE OF VIET BATTLE

Sailors aboard the USS Tripoli, 7th Fleet Amphibious Force helicopter assault carrier off Vietnam, have "a slightly negative attitude toward Marines when they first come aboard," says the skipper, Capt. William L. Adams.

After all, the Marines outnumber the ship's own crew about 1,000 to 600.

But when the wounded and dead Marines come back aboard as the first operation progresses, there is a change in sailors' feelings.

The preparations and actions of one such operation — Operation Foster — are recounted in detail by Buck Lanier, our military editor on the scene.

Lanier, in a four-part series starting Sunday in your Independent Press-Telegram, gives a firsthand account of Long Beach-area Marines and sailors involved in the preparations, the helicopter landing and the action in Operation Foster, about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A Conservative Case Against the Council

By LES RODNEY

THE PROTESTANT REVOLT—Road to Freedom for American Churches, by James DeForest Murch. Crestwood Books. $3.95.

The thesis that the National Council of Churches is undermining American Protestantism through red-tinted policies and watering down of the faith is not a new one. It has been proposed daily for years over extensive radio networks featuring fundamentalist preachers like Billy James Hargis. It has been dispensed in voluminous literature by clerics like Carl McIntire. And it can be heard from a fair number of pulpits.

This new book by James DeForest Murch makes the anti-Council case on a somewhat more scholarly, though no less passionate, level.

In addition to his judgments, Dr. Murch presents a factual roundup of the disquiet of conservative minorities within the "mainline" denominations affiliated with the Council.

While little of this material is new, it has been skillfully put together for the first time. Dr. Murch writes lucidly. Perhaps America's foremost conservative Christian scholar-editor, he has been editor of the Standard Publishing Co., manager and editor of United Evangelical Action (official organ of the National Assn. of Evangelicals), managing editor of Christianity Today, and is author of 20 books. He is on the faculty of Long Beach's Pacific Christian College as a visiting professor.

HE PULLS few punches against Council leadership. But he does not join the pretty much discredited cry of "Communist infiltration." He puts it this way: "It cannot be accurately said there are Communists in the Council, but left-wing liberal leaders frequently follow the party line."

Nor does he ignore the Council preamble and prerequisite for membership which requires "confessing Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Saviour." He cites it, and knocks it as inadequate.

Dr. Murch is perhaps less careful when he makes such a roundhouse statement as "today, men like James A. Pike, retired under fire as a bishop of the Episcopal Church, dominate National Council of Churches leadership." Pike's theological views certainly have not been echoed by Council leaders, let alone dominating them.

The book is at its most successful in detailing, chapter by chapter, the forces battling against "Council liberalism."

Murch makes crystal clear the gravity of the charges he is leveling, and what he means by liberalism. This is much more than social action, which he also hits hard as a throwback to the old Social Gospel.

"What liberalism has done in the field of theology," he writes, "is basic to an understanding of all else that has transpired in the rape of American Protestantism. It has challenged the faith once for all delivered to the saints." It has refused to accept the authority of the Holy Scriptures and the historic creeds of Christendom and has projected its heresies into every root and branch of the Christian Church."

HE DESCRIBES the schism which hit the American (Northern) Baptist Convention 17 years ago, in which many conservative churches were lost to the group, which belongs to the Council and has a membership of 1.5 million.

The chapter on "Episcopalians for Freedom" tells of the revolt against the Council by the largest, wealthiest and most influential church in the diocese of Louisiana.

There's heavy emphasis on Southern dissidence within the Methodist Church, termed "the mighty spearhead of Liberalism in American Protestantism," (a designation which would probably be challenged in the "We're Number 1" football style by some in the United Church of Christ.)

The section on the Congregationalists seems to give more weight than is generally accorded in real life to the Fifield-type dissidents against the 1957 formation of the United Church of Christ. There are some solid shots against what appear to be "far out" materials used in a particular UC of C church.

Other chapters of a similar nature detail friction, schism or rumbling discontent in the Christian Church, United Presbyterians and Lutherans.

The author draws an estimate of 10 million in Council-affiliated denominations "who are thoroughly disillusioned with its policies, its programs and its leadership." (Council affiliates, which include most of the major Protestant groupings—with the key exceptions of the Southern Baptists and Missouri Synod Lutherans—account for some 40 million members.)

TAKING THE non-Council Baptists and Lutherans, the thriving Churches of Christ, the smaller arm of the Christian Church (North American Convention), the lively Pentacostals, the many independent conservative churches, plus Christian Scientists and Mormons, all of which, he says "hold conservative views antagonistic to those of the Council," Murch makes the thesis that more American Protestants are outside the National Council than inside it.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM NEWS OF RELIGION

INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM—B-5

Long Beach, Calif., Saturday, Nov. 13, 1967

These, the author might agree, are the kind of number games that are difficult to prove or disprove. There are an estimated 70 million Protestants in the U.S., so it is probably close.

Dr. Murch pays rueful tribute to the ability of the Council to pose an attractive image. Actually, he places his main hopes not so much on a fundamentalist swing by the major denominations, but on the growth of those outside the Council orbit, fed by people leaving Council-affiliated churches.

"Were it not for this amazing evangelistic surge," he says, "there would be little hope for stemming the tides of unbelief in America."

The book conveys a sense of the apparently greater dynamism of fundamentalists, who often seem to have a fervor lacking in the more deliberative denominations—the dynamism that goes with total certainty at all times and under all circumstances.

Murch, not a one-note pamphleteer, evidences pessimism on some fronts. For example, he is gloomy about the possibilities of the Missouri Synod "going liberal," since that most conservative of the major Lutheran bodies, while not affiliated with the Council (nor contemplating affiliation), does cooperate with certain specific agencies of the Council in areas of Christian work. (So do the Southern Baptists, for that matter.)

ACTUALLY, an opposite (though lesser) case on minority trends to Dr. Murch's could be made that the attraction and impact of the ecumenical movement, making the church more relevant to scientific young people, etc., has in its turn "infiltrated" the conservative groupings, including the NAE, which dabbled in social action and related trends in its I.A. convention this year. Not to mention Billy Graham speaking at the National Convention assembly.

The real question is not with Dr. Murch's documented facts but in whether they are in some cases overinterpreted. Polemical argument fueled by fervent conviction can lead to overconclusions, which can occasionally turn out to be embarrassing.

In the section on Lutherans, Murch speaks of Martin Luther at Wittenberg and says that the Council movement finds Luther's ideas "distasteful."

"Indeed," he adds with most unfortunate timing, "only a few American Lutherans keep up the traditional observance, and many of them act as though they were ashamed to remember."

As for Council approach to Luther at Wittenberg, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake last month made the pilgrimage to Wittenberg itself for the historic occasion, which he reminded "belongs proudly to all Protestantism."

Typical of spirited observations across the land, every Lutheran church in the Long Beach area, bar none, held open house and celebration in honor of the Reformation's 450th anniversary, and Municipal Auditorium was the scene of a Reformation rally. The following Sunday, by the startled testimony of the L.A. Board of Supervisors, more persons tried to get into the L.A. Sports Arena for the united Lutheran Reformation Rally than ever before came to the Arena, including all sports events, the nominating of John F. Kennedy as the Democratic choice, etc., etc. With the Arena jammed, another 10,000 stayed outside to listen to the proceedings via loudspeaker.

This booboo aside, a pertinent question may be whether the undoubted anti-Council feelings within the major denominations are growing, as Murch believes,

BAPTIST YOUNG AMBASSADORS
Rev. Clifton (top left), Men Made Difference

Churchmen Pitched In for Kids at Lime Ave.

Lime Avenue Baptist Church, a modest-sized Southern Baptist congregation at 850 Lime Ave., has built up a lively group of young "Royal Ambassadors" in the three year pastorate of Rev. Glenn Clifton.

The secret, as always, is finding the men willing to work with the boys, and Lime Avenue Baptist found them.

The name Royal Ambassadors (R.A.s for short) comes from 11 Cor. 5:20: "We are ambassadors for Christ."

Says Rev. Clifton: "It's a sort of spiritual Boy Scout organization." Himself a former Eagle Scout, he says "RAs have much the same program as Scouts, only more so." The organization, he says, is not only interested in making men out of boys, "but in developing Christian men out of Christian boys."

Many of the Southern Baptist Convention's 2,300 foreign missionaries had their beginning in the RAs.

When Rev. Clifton came to the local church there were nine juniors enrolled, with an average attendance of five. A young deacon, Wayne Bernhardt, and one of the church's single young men, Robin Loran, were enlisted to help and an immediate change was noted. "Boys need men," comments Rev. Clifton, while paying tribute to the faithful work of the church women with the youngsters.

In January of this year, Lowell Roberts, Alvin Enmal and Art Miller began the work of organizing the Lime Avenue RAs. Roberts, stationed here with the Coast Guard, had worked with RAs back in Yorktown, Va., and was head counselor.

It began with four boys and is now up to 18, and has moved from junior to intermediate. The effect is felt in the growth of a junior department to 30, with 25 in primary—all this, mind you, in a downtown area where there are not too many young families.

The Lime Avenue Baptist RAs started a softball team and went unbeaten in seven games with other Baptist churches.

Goals Group to Discuss Rapid Transit

A community-wide meeting to discuss the Los Angeles Goals Program will be held at the church of the Brethren, 3332 Magnolia Ave. Thursday, 7:30 p.m., according to Frank P. Lombardi, Acting Director of Planning.

"The Goals Program is the new concept for planning the future of the entire Los Angeles Metropolitan Area," said Lombardi, "whereby citizens participate in determining the development of the area. This is the first time lay citizens have had the opportunity to let planners know what kind of city they want in the future."

The main topic of discussion will be "Rapid Transit." All interested citizens are invited to attend.

ANTI-COUNCIL BOOK

As the father of three and the grandfather of four, W. W. Altig, M.D., knows about children from experience. Chief of the emergency department at Long Beach Community Hospital, Dr. Altig maintains a supply of feathers so young patients with head injuries soon lose their fear when the doctor garnishes the bandages and his youthful patients become "Indians." He is shown above with four-year-old Michael Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ford, 5289 Daggett St.

AS PART of the dissent with the United Presbyterian Church, the author cites the ultra conservative lay group which took big ads against the Confession of 1967 in this and other major papers across the land.

It's one thing to write of "monolithic super ecclesiasticism," but one must then explain how after seven years of discussions, climaxed by a year of intensive presbytery meetings, Presbyterians, in full and free swinging debate and congregational voting in the best town hall tradition, overwhelmingly voted for the updated Confession.

This reporter attended one such presbytery session here in Long Beach, heard the full gamut of arguments, including the ably presented anti-Confession viewpoint, and saw the "Yea" vote by tough-minded, independent Presbyterian laymen, many of them leading business and civic figures. They voted, they explained, for what they felt was a responsible adjusting of the eternal truths of their faith to present-day language and developments. This, they felt, meant greater effectiveness for their mission.

Put another way, while Dr. Murch clearly expresses the fears of a strong minority within Protestantism, there is another grouping which feels the road to oblivion may be in quite another direction, that of an unchanging rigidity, nostalgia and aloof piety which will fail to reach today's well-educated young ideal-ist, the source of tomorrow's church.

NO ONE need blink at the depth of the chasm which divides two such points of view. Yet a great paradox exists in that both profess the same aim. "Does Protestantism," asks Dr. Murch, "want to see the restoration of the church that Jesus built, or the creation of a socio-politically oriented Super-Church controlled by a clerical hierarchy with unlimited centralized power?"

But the Protestants who lead the National Council of Churches of Christ in America say that their aim is precisely the restoration of the church Christ built, when there were no debilitating rivalries between Christians, and "social action" — through and with the Gospel to be sure — was at the heart of the evangelism of Jesus and His Disciples.

The trenchant conservative warnings of the dangers of a bureaucratic hierarchy in an oversimplified vision of Christian unity, and its insistence on the primacy of evangelism, have not been without impact on the ecumenical movement, which has increasingly stressed the value of freedom and diversity within cooperative unity, and the need for evangelistic renewal. To make unity meaningful.

With world Christianity not at its happiest moment, these are the kind of questions which require the most open airing and discussion. Dr. Murch's new book, overall, is an interesting presentation of one point of view.

JOHN C. HALLETT

Noted Musical Director to Lakewood 1st

First Baptist Church of Lakewood, noted for its choir work under the ministry of recently departed Dick Anthony, has welcomed its new minister of music, John C. Hallett, one of the best known in his field in the New York metropolitan area.

Hallett, choral director, pianist, composer of 400 original compositions, author of eight song and choir books, comes from 12 years as minister of music at Long Hill Chapel, Chatham, N.J.

He is music editor of the Rodcheaver Publishing Co. of Winona Lake, Ind., co-founder of the Northeastern Collegiate Bible Institute, and directs the John Hallett Choral & Orchestra.

Community Chapel Groundbreak Set

Community Chapel of Long Beach, 6465 Cherry Ave., will hold a ground-breaking service Sunday, 2:30 p.m. for construction of new facilities, including school rooms, church offices and a large prayer room. The present sanctuary will be remodeled and the choir loft enlarged.

The church began from a Bible class taught by Pastor Esther M. Mallett, which first moved into the Odd Fellows Hall in Bellflower for six years, and in 1963 dedicated the new church. Growth has made the present facilities inadequate.

The church choir and "Lorraine and the Jubilee Six" will sing at the dedication service.

BRIEFLY . . .

Compton Lineup, Farewell, and Diversified Students

"Ecumenical," "Brotherhood," "Union" etc. are high-sounding words which, everyone knows, have little real meaning unless they come into play down where it counts, on the local church level.

We give you the "lineup" at last Wednesday night's union service of Thanksgiving in the city of Compton, held at Immanuel Baptist Church under the sponsorship of the Compton Ministerial Assn.

Pastors participating in the service included the Revs. C. W. Stevens, of the host church; Larry Coyle of First Christian, president of the association; Luther J. Harper, Allen Temple CME; James H. Patterson, Christ Lutheran; A. Edward Bell, St. Peter's Methodist; Capt. Bob Anderson, Salvation Army; Gilbert Romero, Sacred Heart.

The CME, AME and St. Peter's churches are Negro congregations. Sacred Heart is a Roman Catholic parish.

The sermon, "The Difficult Thing," was delivered by Rev. J. Merle Bandy, of First Southern Baptist.

A large united choir with singers from various Compton churches was directed by Mrs. Juanita Ivie of First Methodist, whose pastor, Rev. Earl W. Isbell, played a major role in arranging the service.

All in attendance were invited by Immanuel Baptist to stay for fellowship and refreshments.

The "lineup" of participants in this Thanksgiving Day, 1967 may or may not have been unique, but it seems like a reasonable statement that such a service says something positive about the potentials of both the city of Compton and of Christianity.

A FAREWELL retirement reception for Dr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Holand will be held Sunday, 2 p.m. in the church Dr. Holand founded five years ago, Redeemer Lutheran of Leisure World, Seal Beach. In addition to shepherding the completion of the handsome church, he has played a leading role in the community religious life as president of the all-inclusive Religious Council.

As part of the ceremonies, there will be a presentation of a purse toward the Holand's home in Pilgrim Place, a retirement community for religious workers in Claremont.

Dr. Holand, who has been in the ministry 40 years, is author of the well received book "Good Morning! And Other Sermons."

BROWSING THROUGH the list of new Fall students at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (Episcopal), we find the expected group of college men in their early 20s, and also:

A 44-year-old Alaskan who owned a clothing store in Sitka.

A 31-year-old machinist with a wife and three children from Olympia, Wash.

A 49-year-old married advertising agency sales director from Nevada.

A 34-year-old high school teacher with wife and three children, from Colliage, Ariz.

A 41-year-old administrative assistant for the California Savings and Loan Commission.

A 36-year-old elementary school teacher of Yuba, Calif.

A 33-year-old housewife and ad copy writer, with three children, of Berkeley.

A 49-year-old father of six, owner of an industrial testing business in Colorado.

A 51-year-old professor of psychology at Oregon State U., with wife and two children.

A 48-year-old father of six, janitor, from South Dakota.

FROM THE PULPIT

There is a physical world where we are acquainted with physical forces and facts. This we call the realm of nature with its various laws. To a degree, we understand these facts and forces. Science helps us with new understandings and knowledge of these discoveries.

There is a non-physical world of spiritual forces, spiritual facts and spiritual beings. We are not so well acquainted with this world, for our intuitions to it have all been in the realm of faith and we pretty much live in a "faithless" generation.

Man was created in harmony with this spiritual world, but rebelled against God, the Supreme Spiritual Being. God left the physical world and came into the person of His Son, Jesus Christ. His death, resurrection and ascension was done to bring man back into harmony with this non-physical world.

Knowledge and instruction in the facts of the Gospel are absolutely essential to bringing this harmony about. That is why it is essential that you attend a church that preaches and teaches the Gospel. Christ came to emphasize that "My kingdom is not of this world."

Come to Calvary, Calvary is for you!

Negro Stars Defy Olympic Games Boycott

The Negro boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games, called 100 per cent Thursday, was 1 per cent Friday.

Harry Edwards, 24, a sociology instructor at San Jose State College, Thursday stated that a half-dozen athletes and 200 college students voted a blanket rejection of Negro participation in the Olympiad at Mexico City in Black Youth Conference in Los Angeles.

Friday the athletes denied it.

Mike Warren, UCLA basketball player, said, "I wasn't even there. How could I vote for it?"

His teammate, Lew Alcindor, declared, "I haven't made up my mind. I'll wait until the time comes."

Lee Evans of San Jose State said he would not participate in the Olympics "if it means slamming the potential door to freedom in the face of black people."

Tommie Smith of San Jose refused to comment.

Other Negroes, not present at the meeting strongly disagreed.

Bob Hayes, Ralph Boston, Rafer Johnson and Jesse Owens, all winners of at least two Olympic medals, said Edwards' demand of a boycott was all wrong.

"I don't know what they are doing," said Hayes, the man who won two gold medals in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo. "I don't know what's going on. I don't think any sort of problem would have kept me from participating."

Boston, one of the world's all-time long jump kings who at age 30 is still hoping to make the 1968 U.S. team, was even more puzzled.

"This whole thing has been picked up by people who are not athletes," said Boston.

"I don't feel I can go along with the boycott. I don't feel the games should be used as a political crutch, and I don't think politics should come into the Olympic Games at all."

Johnson, the nation's greatest decathlon star and now a newsman, attended the conference, but as a reporter and not as an athlete.

"I deplore the use of the Olympic Games by certain people for political aggrandizement," said Owens. "There is no place in the athletic world for politics."

"The Olympics help bridge the gap of misunderstanding of people in this country," added Owens. "I feel individual reward is the great thing because out of it can come the help needed to bring about and foster what we call the full way of American life."

Don Newcombe, former Dodger pitching star, said the boycott would hurt rather than help the Negro cause.

"I've traveled to many nations and I don't know of any other country as great as the United States," he said.

Art Walker, American record-holder in the triple jump, commented, "I have no intention of going along with this group."

The Bruins, an also-ran selection for the Moore League football campaign, Friday night felt the sting of reality.

fourth touchdown.

With Wilson desperately passing in the final stanza, the Colonists intercepted six passes.

Utilizing Kym Salness' interception, Anaheim's

Mark Stief tossed to Larry Bashford from the 20-yard line for the TD.

Wilson made a last gasp attempt and scored on a 19-yard Jeff Burroughs-to-Jerry Kavanau pass.

Despite a courageous league season that produced the league's best, Wilson suffered a 35-13 setback in its CIF playoff bid before 10,106 at Veterans Stadium. Anaheim was the Cinderella destroyer.

The runnerup Anaheim Colonists of the Angelus League ruined the tale, amassing 421 yards in a game that never was in doubt after the first 10 minutes of play.

The Colonists rushed for 382 yards, compared to Wilson's 75. The Bruins led in passing, 196-41, but lost in total yardage, 399-226.

Taking the opening kickoff, Anaheim moved to its 44 in three plays, then half-back Walt Smith ran 57 yards to score.

With five minutes gone, Mark Kemp booted the extra point, and the Colonists led, 7-0.

Using a scrambling 36-yard kickoff return by Dante Lobato, Wilson passed for 20 yards, and quarterback Dick Burdge tossed to Lobato for the last 16 and the touchdown. Jeff Burroughs kicked the conversion.

Starting from its own 46, Anaheim quarterback George Fraser broke open and rolled downfield for 54 yards following the kickoff. The Bruins never recovered.

Kemp, who booted 5-for-5, kicked the extra point and Anaheim led for good, 14-7.

Anaheim, after taking its 14-7 first-quarter lead, continued to show its superiority. The Colonists added a touchdown in the third and fourth periods to put the game out of reach. The Bruins' final score in the last quarter wasn't significant.

Gaining the ball on their own 38, the Colonists ground downfield in 11 plays. A key block by Tom Fitzpatrick let Fraser ramble across for his second TD from 15 yards.

Fitzpatrick sprinted for 51 yards in the third quarter, then added the remaining one yard for the Colonists'.

WILSON HALFBACK Dante Lobato staggers under attempted tackle by Anaheim's David Mass before stepping free to score touchdown. Lobato ran 16 yards after taking pass from Dick Burdge. The TD momentarily tied score, but Colonists went on to eliminate Bruins from playoffs.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hit by a 16-point attack in the second quarter, sixth-ranked Notre Dame stormed back Friday night to squeeze past the Miami Hurricanes, 24-22 before 77,265 fans — biggest in Orange Bowl history.

The outcome of the bruising battle was in doubt until, with three minutes left, Miami went for two points after its last touchdown and failed on a pass by Bill Miller intended for Jerry Daanen.

Stymied by Miami's tough defense in the early stages, the Fighting Irish moved ahead 24-16 in the final period on Terry Hanratty's passes and the rushing of Jeff Zimmerman and Bob Gladieux.

Zimmerman lunged a yard for a touchdown that put Notre Dame in front 17-16 in the third quarter. Gladieux raced 10 yards for the clincher in the fourth quarter as the Irish snapped a six-game Miami winning streak.

A short punt after Miami had thrown Notre Dame back from the Irish 12 to the one, put the Hurricanes back in business on the Notre Dame 22 in the closing OAKLAND — Jim King and Rudy LaRusso, who need no introduction to Laker fans, provided the key plays and points in the final seconds of overtime Friday night that gave the San Francisco Warriors a thrilling 122-121 win over the Lakers.

King, whom the Lakers cast adrift in the expansion draft two years ago, sank two free throws with six seconds to go that provided the margin of victory.

LaRusso, who the Lakers lost in an ill-fated trade last January and who was enticed out of retirement by

San Francisco this fall, grabbed a key offensive rebound with 12 seconds remaining.

The ex-Dartmouth star, who performed eight years with the Lakers, missed an

Only 10 seconds were left when Attles passed to King, who finished with 20 points but didn't shoot well, made them both to give his team a three-point lead.

The Warriors, fearing a three-point play, let Baylor score with two seconds left and then ran out the clock.

Kings Tease 'em to Tears, Jump Win Streak to Three

By RICH ROBERTS

Coach Red Kelly isn't divulging his Kings' strategy against the rest of the National Hockey League, but the plan must be to tease 'em to death.

Winger Brian Smith, who scored two goals in Friday night's 5-3 win over the Pittsburgh Penguins, said, "I never played for a team like this that just seems to come up with the goals when you need them."

It's been that way all season. The Kings, now on their longest win streak of three, haven't overwhelmed anybody by more than three goals but are still atop the Western Division, like a carrot dangling before a donkey.

Friday they had 6,458 fans in the L.A. Sports Arena dangling breathlessly as they blew a 2-0 lead, then ran away with it in the last period. Kelly wouldn't say

"That's between my fellows and myself," he smiled.

"When we're in the dress-

Other goals from Ed Joyal, Bryan Campbell and Terry Gray helped stop the Penguins' three-game streak. Art Stratton had a pair for the visitors.

It was the most productive game for the Smith-Gray-Gord on LaBosiere line, and Smith noted, "Our lines' starting to come now. We went eight games at one stretch without having a goal scored against us, but we weren't scoring any, either. Now we're starting to get some."

Pittsburgh coach Red Sullivan agreed that the Kings "were 30 or 40 per cent improved over the last

Clark Sets Mark, Earns Mays Pole

RIVERSIDE, (AP) — Jimmy Clark of Duns, Scotland, grabbed the early pole Friday for Sunday's Rex Mays 300 with a scorching qualifying run of one minute, 20.8 seconds over Riverside Raceway's 2.6-mile road course.

Clark's time, achieved in a Bryant Special, is equivalent to 115.841 miles an hour and breaks the old track record of 111.032 m.p.h. set by George Follmer in a Lola Chevrolet — a sports car — earlier this year. In this first Indianapolis-type race in Southern California in 30 years, the top 11 qualifiers drove rear-engine Fords.

Right behind Clark was A. J. Foyt, driving a Sheraton Thompson Special. He was clocked in 1:21.6 for 114.705 mph. Foyt leads all drivers in the United States Auto Club tour with 3,280 points in this final USAC race of the season.

Roger McCluskey, driving a GC Murphy Special, was third with a run of 1:21.9 and 114.285. Fourth was Bobby Unser in a Risone Special, clocked at 1:22.0 and 114.146.

A second day of qualifying was scheduled for today. More than 3,000 spectators saw the first day under clear skies.

A $75,000 purse is at stake, but more important to at least two of the internationally known drivers, Foyt and Mario Andretti, was the battle for the USAC national championship.

The Riverside race is the climax of an eight-month, 18-race campaign for the title.

Foyt goes into the race with a lead of 340 points over Andretti. Last week at Phoenix, Ariz., Andretti cut into Foyt's lead when he won, while Foyt was forced out after 98 laps of the 200-lapper.

RAMS BATTLE SERVITE IN CIF OPENER

Roger Hull's amazing Millikan High School football team must prove itself again tonight when it meets Angelus League champion Servite at La Palma Stadium in Anaheim.

Servite is ranked sixth in the CIF poll with a 7-1 record and the Friars are favored to beat the Moore League runnerup.

Led by halfback Mike Liebeck, Millikan has overcome odds on several occasions to finish a half-game behind Moore League champion Wilson and qualify for the Rams' second trip to the playoffs.

Kickoff for the final game in the AAAA first round of playoffs is 8 p.m.

Lakers Topped by S.F.

Fred Hetzel and Nate Thurmond were devastating. Thurmond scored 22 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and handed off 11 assists, while Mullins netted 18 of his 24 points in the second half, and Hetzel hit 20 of his 29 after intermission.

Jerry West broke out of his shooting slump with a 26-point effort. Based on 12 for 23 from the floor and two free throws. He also had 10 rebounds and 8 assists.

West's return to normalcy leaves the Lakers in a good position to gain a split with the Warriors when the clubs battle again tonight at 8 in the L.A. Sports Arena.

Baylor was fouled with 13 seconds left, but when he could make only one of two, the Warriors had a chance to win it without the overtime. Mullins tried a 25-footer with three ticks left on the clock, but it wasn't close.

Hetzel and Larusso scored to open the five minute extra session, but when Baylor made a follow shot at 1:12 it was still anyone's game with San Francisco leading 120-119.

Leroy Is the Keyes to Purdue's Success

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Just not enough minutes in the day for Leroy Keyes. Otherwise, Purdue coach Jack Mollenkopf would give him another job.

That's all Keyes needs. Right now, he's doing the equivalent of cleaning two Augean stables.

"He's one of the first fellows on the field for practice," said Mollenkopf. "He has to be. He's got to get his kickoff and field goal kicking out of the way. Then he works on his kickoff returns, rushing, blocking passing and pass receiving. After that, he polishes his defensive assignments."

"He'd be our punter, too, but he must get to the books. He's taking 18 hours of class work."

Keyes, the 6-3, 200-pound junior halfback, has been scoring with the rapidity of an Israeli air offensive—and from every angle. He has run for touchdowns, caught for touchdowns, and passed for touchdowns, and will probably be the first Big 10 player since Tommy Harmon in 1940 to lead the nation in scoring.

This year, he broke Purdue's rushing record for a single game—225 yards against Illinois. He broke the school pass-receiving mark—184 yards against Northwestern. He broke the Boilermaker record for longest run from scrimmage—81 yards.

All this from a guy who was primarily a defensive back last season.

But even on defense he finds ways to score. The first time he got the ball last year—an in-air fumble recovery against Notre Dame—he lit out for a 95-yard touchdown.

He was used only in spots on offense—that is, whenever Purdue needed a TD. He got his hands on the ball a total of 31 times—on offense and defense—and racked up 528 yards, an average of 17 yards gained per play.

When you've got a guy who can do things like that why keep him on defense? "We were somewhat disappointed in Leroy as a freshman," said Mollenkopf. "We expected him to be a gamebreaker—what he is now. But he wasn't then. The problem was a weak knee. After the season he had cartilages removed."

Everyone on Purdue's freshman team plays both ways. So Keyes gained valuable experience, even if he didn't look like the greatest thing at Purdue since Cecil Isbell.

He still plays defense, but only in spots.

"I was almost set to go to A & T College in Greensboro, N.C.," said Keyes, "but I decided that Big 10 competition and the academic excellence at Purdue would be best in the long run."

Keyes wants to try pro ball. "I'd like to make it on offense—that's the prestige side of the field," he said. "But the competition is tough. They have a lot of 9.3 and 9.4 men with moves."

"I'm only a 9.8 man with moves."

Kings' Streak at Three

time we saw them," which was also a 5-3 L.A. win back East.

Joyal put the Kings in front midway in the first period when he passed to Bill Flett on a two-man rush, then followed up Flett's rebound through the legs of goalie Les Binkley.

Smith and Stratton alternated scoring two goals each in the second period. Smith stole the puck from Leo Boivin, who had intercepted Gordon La Bossiere's pass, and found himself all alone right in front.

Then Stratton tied it up in a span of 3 minutes and 17 seconds, taking pretty passes from Ken Schinkel both times. First he had a clear break on Wayne Rutledge, then he double-teamed Dale Rolfe when King defenseman Bill White got caught up-ice trying to poke-check.

Smith restored the Kings' lead to 3-2 when he nursed the puck behind the net and slipped it around the corner.

Campbell insured the win eight minutes into the third period. All he had to do was wait in front while Howie Hughes and Lowell MacDonald spun the Penguins around with some sharp passing behind the goal-line.

Pittsburgh's Andy Bathgate, the division's leading scorer, was in the penalty box when Gray got the go-ahead on a 15-footer.

Bob Dillabough bagged the Penguins' futile third goal when he chipped AB McDonald's shot high over Rutledge.

Blue Lines: The Kings start a four-game trip Sunday with a big one at Philadelphia against their nearest pursuers, the Flyers. They play at St. Louis Wednesday, Montreal Saturday and New York Sunday. The Kings' 24th game will be on TV (Channel 4) at the Long Beach Arena—St. Louis Dec. 6, Philadelphia Dec. 6, after that there are three more at the L.A. Arena and then it's into the Eastern time zone on Dec. 10, Sunday, when the Kings play the Penguins. The Kings were third in the NHL standings after a 7-3-0 at home and 6-1-3 against the expansion clubs, a 2-3-6 average.

minutes. Joe Mira bulldozed over from the one.

During the season, Notre Dame had scored 134 points in the second period and yielded none to the opposition. In this game, the situation was reversed.

Trailing 3-0 after a 22-yard field goal by Joe Azaro, the Hurricanes hit for two touchdowns in the first two minutes of the second quarter and added a 37-yard goal by Phil Tracy.

Jimmy Dye, returning a punt 49 yards to the Notre Dame nine, set up the first Miami touchdown. David Olivo passed to Doug McGee for the score.

Hit hard by Jim Kresl, Notre Dame's Dan Harshman fumbled the next kickoff and Tracy recovered at the Notre Dame 12. Olivo passed to John Acuff at the one, then scored on a keeper.

Hanratty found the range midway in the second period and the Irish struck 62 yards for a touchdown in four plays. Hanratty hit Jim Seymour for 10 yards and Zimmerman for 39, then ran seven yards to the one, from where Ed Ziegler scored.

Not until the third period did Notre Dame's strong inside running attack begin to split the Miami line.

Zimmerman cut through for several good gains before going in for his touchdown.

An interception of a Miller pass by John Pergine enabled Notre Dame to move 38 yards for the decisive score. Gladioux swept left end for 28, then raced in for the touchdown.

Miami lost the big punch of its running attack on the game's first series of downs when swift halfback Vince Opalsky went out with an injured hip.

Royals' 153 Total Hits High for NBA

Combined News Services

The Cincinnati Royals equalled their all-time single game scoring record as they blitzed Seattle, 153-97, in a National Basketball Assn. game Friday night.

The Royals failed to break the scoring mark which was set in 1962 against the Chicago Zephyrs when rookie Jim Fox missed two of three free throws with 13 seconds left in the game.

Connie Dierking scored 27 points, Oscar Robertson 26 and Hal Hairston 25 as the Royals posted the high number of points in an NBA game this season.

Chet Walker, held to three points in the first half, scored 14 in a furious third quarter to pace the Philadelphia 76ers to a 122-104 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

The Bulls, down 39-27 early in the second quarter, outplayed the world champions and grabbed a 59-54 advantage at halftime.

At Detroit, Dave DeBusschere and Tom Van Arsdale led an early fourth-quarter surge that saw the Detroit Pistons outscore the San Diego Rockets, 11-2, and coast to a 130-122 victory.

DeBusschere hit four of his game-high 35 points and Van Arsdale followed with seven straight points at the opening of the fourth quarter as the Rockets led, 99-97, going into the final stanza.

Santa Ana Wins, 7-6 (Whew); North Gets 48-7 Beating

The CIF's top-rated and top-weighted teams led a seven-club advance into the playoff quarterfinals Friday night.

The Southland's No. 1 squad, unbeaten Santa Ana, got the scare of its life before scoring in the final quarter to decision Bishop Amat, 7-6, while Santa Barbara, which has received most of its recognition for a huge defense, pounded North High of Torrance, 48-7.

Although it would be difficult to convince Santa Ana fans, the Saints didn't register the closest victory of the evening.

That distinction went to Pacific, which advanced on first downs after tying with West Covina, 7-7. Pacific had nine first downs to four for West Covina.

Santa Ana's 10th win of an undefeated season was nearly as close. The entire first half was played in Santa Ana territory and the Saints trailed until the final eight minutes when Isaac Curtis ran 80 yards for the winning touchdown.

Dave Martinez kicked the deciding conversion. Bishop Amat scored its TD in the first quarter on a 27-yard sprint by Ed Martin.

Ed O'Conner had a chance to be a hero for Bishop Amat in the final seconds of the conflict, but is 22-yard field goal try was wide.

Santa Barbara, which boasts a defensive front four that averages 313 pounds, riddled North's defense for 416 total yards.

Grady Hurst led the Santa Barbara attack, passing for two touchdowns on plays of 13 and 5 yards. He also ran 48 yards for a score. Hurst finished the game with 41 yards rushing and 116 passing.

North managed to pick up 276 yards against the Santa Barbara defenders, but was never in the game after an early 7-0 lead.

Joe Cabrera ran 20 yards for the deciding TD as the CIF's No. 2 team, El Rancho, came back to defeat Centennial.

Centennial took a 7-0 lead in the first period on Nathaniel McCall's 1-yard run and James Smith's conversion and still led, 7-6 at half.

LED (July 22-Aug. 22): Keep close watch on passions. Do not allow your feelings to get out of hand. Piece together complete story. Best to be open. Frank. Be careful. Follow inner feelings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): See picture as it exists. Tendency to accept distorted view. Some new contacts appear bright. Watch conditions in circle. Cycle is high, but associates may be unstable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): No day to open secret. Be delicate and slow. Do not pick up hints. Piece together complete story. Best to be open. Frank. Be careful. Follow inner feelings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Today don't rely too much on advice proffered by friends. Many have problems of their own. Do plenty of reading. Analyze information. Slice clear of quarrels.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be diplomatic in dealing with those in authority. You gain by offering compromise. Obstacles can be overcome if you are subtle rather than direct.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Check long-distance communications. You tend to misinterpret messages. Key is to clarify misunderstandings. Take time to gain clarity. Then what appears a crisis evaporates.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Disturbance concerning money and investments. Legal checks, actions may be involved. Financial decision necessary. Be confident. Authoritative. Use past experience.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some people oppose you for no apparent reason. Key is to realize one phase of activity is finished. Get ready for new start. Throw off burden not rightly your own.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY, you have executive ability. You recently made home adjustments. Take time to gain clarity. Then what appears a crisis evaporates.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Virgo, Libra, Scorpio. Spend word on health, partner, requires special attention.
